

Environmental Toxicology

Lawrence K. Duffy, 246 WRRB, lkduffy@alaska.edu, 474-7525

Instructor:

Students are encouraged to contact the

Office Hours

Monday and Thursday following lectures. However, st

Lecture: Tuesdays and Thursdays, 11:30 am - 1:00 pm, Murie 103

Textbook: Fundamentals of Ecotoxicology 4th Edition (ISBN 978-14-666-58-2293) by Michael C Newman,

Course Description: This is a core course which uses the basic components of ec

Learning Outcomes:

- increase understanding of biochemistry with respect to environmental contaminants
- increase understanding of the chemical-biotic interactions
- understand the structure and function of ecosystems

Student

-
-

gain an understanding of how biota alters the structure and dynamics of
of the North

Course Goals:

Understand the basic principles of environmental toxicology

Understand

Instructional Methods:

the course

Examples

will be followed by 150 minutes of self-paced, online instruction

30 points to present + 5 minutes for questions) will count as 100 or 200

Orals:

The oral presentations (10-15 minutes each = 100 or 200)

Language for Syllabi

The Board of Regents have clearly stated in BOP Policy that discrimination in any form including but not limited to

by contacting the IAF Health & Counseling

1) You may access confidential counseling by

Police Department at

3) You may file a criminal complaint by contacting the University

...moments of history. Although the science of the past has been used to look the way to the future, the science of the future is being used to look the way to the past. The science of the future is being used to look the way to the past. The science of the future is being used to look the way to the past.

