John George- plan is important for some of the other things we do. It's not just about recycling, but has broader implications.

There is not someone currently identified to step up to lead this effort or to take on what you've been doing in the RISE group or other groups. Not at this time. This is a high priority for the university.

This will require financial support and resources and MPC isn't in a position to address those things. The FMP

Gary – Craft something that indicates that UAF should have a commitment to it based on the master plan, university community and larger community as well. There are resources out there from STARs and ASSHE and others that can help through this.

Suggestions included RISE board funding, Center for Student Engagement, campuswide survey or include this planning within a

We had two faults that tripped campus off line. The last outages that GV has had on the campus has done well.
